SUMMARY

---

I'm a Final year Computer Science student with a strong interest in exploring new ideas and solving real-world problems. I work with Python, C, and web development, and I'm branching into Full Stack Development. I'm also growing my Data Analytics Skills using Python to analyze data, extract insights, and make data-driven decisions. Even I have very good knowledge in MERN Stack. I'm always eager to take on opportunities that challenge me and help me grow—both as a learner and a contributor.

TECHNICAL SKILLS

PROJECTS

---

Real-time Object Detection using OpenCV

- Developed a object detection model to detect objects in Real time with the help of image processing and videocapture.

AI Dietitian

- It aims to use artificial intelligence to provide personalized diet recommendations, monitor nutritional intake, and support healthy eating habits. These systems combine machine learning, natural language processing, and sometimes computer vision to mimic the role of a human dietitian
